

Abstract:

The invention relates to liposomal formulations for the production of an injectable depot of peptide, protein and oligonucleotide active substances for sustained release and effect in a mammal body.